

LONDON RESIDENTIAL INVESTMENT

£1.5M Buy-to-Let Capital Allocation Brief

A Dubai-based investor is deploying £1.5M into London Buy-to-Let property. Because each property type — Semi-Detached, Flat, Detached, Terraced — differs in yield and growth across each district, every property type in all 32 districts was individually analysed and ranked to identify which property type, in which district, delivers the strongest combined yield and growth across London. The strongest result: Semi-Detached in Barking & Dagenham.

4.65% Gross Rental Yield	+4.91% 5-Year CAGR (Growth)	1 of 120 Combined Rank
--	---	--

Barking & Dagenham, by Property Type

Property Type	Yield	5-Yr CAGR (Growth)
Detached	3.97%	-3.65%
Flat	6.31%	-1.67%
Semi-Detached	4.65%	+4.91%
Terraced	4.76%	+2.37%

 Flat has the highest yield of the four — but negative growth erases the advantage. Semi-Detached is weaker on yield alone, but the district's only type strong on both.*

Recommendation

- 01 Primary Acquisition — Semi-Detached in Barking & Dagenham, at £446,525 per unit. £1.5M covers three units (£1,339,575), leaving roughly £160,000 in reserve.
- 02 Comparative Context — Outperforms Kensington & Chelsea — the prime-central alternative — on both yield (4.65% vs 3.48%) and growth (+4.91% vs +0.80%).
- 03 Reserve Allocation — The remaining £160,000 can be retained for maintenance, optional refurbishment to add further value, and ongoing management fees.
